

Support Group Scheduling: College Essay Bootcamp

After we have split the class into 4 corners based on working needs, you will select a group of 3 people to create a support group.

Purpose of Support Group:

- To create a working schedule, and hold each other accountable for remaining productive, on task, and facilitate the production of a high quality college essay!
- To serve as a forum of support, critique, and idea generation

Your support group will have the following roles: Slavedriver, Timekeeper, and Snitch.

- The Slavedriver: This person will make sure that all members of the group are producing at maximum output.
- The Timekeeper: This person will manage your schedule, and make sure you are aware of what you need to be doing and when you need to be doing it.
- The Snitch: This person will report to me in regards to the ability of the group to stay on target.

Designate your roles, and write them below.

The Slavedriver: _____

The Timekeeper: _____

The Snitch: _____

Consult together and design a schedule that will suit your needs. Put the following tasks on the timeline below:

- Share what success looks like for your essay, what kind of essay you want to write
- Fill out and share brainstorming sheet
- Fill out and share the outlining worksheet
- Write the "getting it going" draft
- Evaluate this draft for each other using the NY Times Rubric
