

Date	Daily Objectives	Supplementary (Homework)
Monday, April 13th	Focus: Start to write or be on the cusp of typing Most are just finishing their outlines at this point, and so we're re-adjusting the goals for this week. I should be checking off outlines today. Your goal should be to have a rough draft done by Friday, or the latest, by next Monday. This will give you a week to refine your work. As you start writing, review the Elements Handout and one of the student exemplars posted on under Student Resources on my DP. Remember the annotated version of this annotated outline that we looked at last week. Consider as you read: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. How does the author approach each Element? 2. Given the differences between this topic and yours, how will YOU approach each element? 	At least 45 minutes of focused writing. You can start with the introduction or Part III
Tuesday, April 14th	Focus: More of the same! Get writing!! Use your time productively. Try to finish writing a section a day for the rest of the week, so you have a full draft by Friday for me to take home and give you comments on. I'd start with either section I or section III.	At LEAST 45 minutes of focused writing.
Wednesday, Thursday April 15th and 16th	Focus: Write, write, write. If you have started writing before finishing your outline. Make sure to go back to the outline regularly so that you have the final draft in outline form by the end. This will help immensely with your preparing for your presentation.	At LEAST 45 minutes of focused writing.
Friday April 17th	Next week we move into critique and refinement. EXPECT TO DO MAJOR REVISIONS ON YOUR PAPER. By now, you know that I expect much more from a revision than simply moving around commas. Be prepared for big time thinking and writing. This will be coming from a place of love so that you crush your presentation, and can take well-deserved victory lap around the parking lot singing Queen's "We are the Champions!" at the top of your lungs.	Finish your draft; if you finish Friday, then take a break so you can come back fresh on Monday